Now we would now like to discuss the proposed design changes that have occurred since the FEIS/ROD approval in 2016.

There is a proposed alignment shift between Calder Road and Hobbs Road to avoid 26 new homes in the Bay Colony West subdivision that were constructed within the approved FEIS/ROD preferred alignment. The alignment would be shifted to the north along an alignment reviewed in the Draft EIS. This shift to the north to the Draft EIS alignment would require a re-evaluation of approximately 35 acres of right-of-way that was not in the FEIS/ROD approved alignment and would impact one property that was not previously impacted. There would be no additional displacements as a result of the proposed alignment shift.
